2016 South Dakota Youth Range Camp

June 8-10, 2016

RANGELAND

* Roughly 50% of the state of South Dakota is rangeland.

Management needs of rangelands are diverse and require innovative approaches for good stewardship.

Users of rangelands are varied. Most people think only of beef cattle, but wildlife and humans are also rangeland users. Rangelands are a type of land – not a land use.

South Dakota Youth Range Camp provides hands-on experience with rangeland resources.

Campers learn about:

- Range Plant Identification
- Ecological Sites
- Similarity Index
- Stocking Rates
- Wildlife Habitat on Rangeland
- Range Improvements
- Rangeland Ecology
- Plant Anatomy and Growth
- Soils & Geology
- Information on careers

ELIGIBILITY

Young adults (male and female) starting high school or older who have a sincere desire to learn more about the range resource and its management. Youth from town or country are equally welcome. It is not necessary to be a member of FFA, 4-H, etc. Permission of parent or guardian is required. College credit is available for CEU's.

Teaching staff and facilities limit participation to about 60 students. Enrollment is on a first-come, first-served basis.

* WE MUST KNOW WHO BY MAY 23RD!

South Dakota State University, South Dakota counties, and USDA cooperating. South Dakota State University adheres to AA/EEO guidelines in offering educational programs and services.

TRANSPORTATION - Transportation must be provided by the parent or sponsor to and from camp daily. The camp coordinator(s) can be contacted to assist with names of other participants to help with rides.

EQUIPMENT & CLOTHING NEEDED - Each camper must bring comfortable shoes and/or boots, as you will spend considerable time on your feet. Warm clothing, rain gear and overshoes are essential. Bring notebook, clipboard, paper and pencils.
